McGonigle, Lawrence Governor Rivals

Leader, Scott Top Fields In Senate Races

ORGANIZATION - backed candidates for state offices and the U.S. Senate ran up substantial leads in Monroe County during yesterday's primary election.

Gov. George M. Leader, campaigning for the U. S. Senate with the support of the state Democratic organization, clobbered his opposition, Clarence P. Bowers of Berks County, 2,028 to 863 in unofficial returns.

Leader held a 266,298 to 82,404 lead over Clarence Bowers of Reading in the state picture in 3,671 of 8,887 precincts.

Scott had 316,865 to Heyburn's 44,894 in 4,078 of 8,887 precincts.

David L. Lawrence, Pittsburgh's mayor, running for governor, polled 1,309 votes to 1,033 for Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman and 288 for Edward Paul LaVelle of Lackawanna County.

The Democrats in the county gave John Francis Davis, of Berks County the nod for lieutenant governor with 1,158 votes to 1,064 for John Morgan Davis, of Philadelphia, and 437 for William E. Culbertson of Clarion County.

In the three-way battle for secretary of internal affairs on the Democratic ticket, Genevieve Blatt, incumbent, received 1,974 votes to 343 for Michael A. Cannavino of Erie County and 209 for Lucian J. Cletti of Washington County.

Arthur T. McGonigle of Reading, the Republican organization candidate for governor, had a tighter battle. He polled 1,618 votes to 1,066 for Harold E. Stassen of Philadelphia, former governor of Minnesota. In the also ran class were William E. Livengood, Jr., Somerset County, with 464 votes and Harold J. Vaughan of Beaver County with 62.

Hugh Scott, Philadelphia, had no difficulty in securing the nomination for U. S. Senator. He polled 2,437 votes to 361 for Harrison A. Moyer of Lehigh County and 293 for Weldon B. Heyburn of Delaware County.

John M. Walker of Allegheny County, received 1,717 votes for lieutenant governor on the GOP ticket, easily out-distancing Frank C. Hilton of Crawford County, who had 933, and Rowland B. Mahany, also of Crawford County, 145.

Andrew J. Gleason of Cambria County received the nomination for secretary of internal affairs on the Republican ticket, defeating Albert R. Pechan of Armstrong County, 1,882 to 780.

Arthur T. McGonigle, candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, also has backed the shortway plan.

Dilworth, 300 business and civic leaders and the Greater Philadelphia Movement have joined forces to oppose plans for the Shortway as they now exist.

Arthur T. McGonigle, candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, also has backed the shortway plan.

Snyder, Brislin Elected Heads Of Party Ranks

A POLITICAL "Young Turk" and a former party chairman won stunning victories in yesterday's primary.

One of them—Gerald Snyder, an East Stroudsburg school teacher — plunged through to a blasting upset over veteran Republican party chairman Benjamin K. Williams.

Williams had been Republican chairman since 1945. Snyder had been serving as State Republican committeeman from Monroe County the past two years.

On the Democratic party scene, former chairman John Brislin, Stroud Township, scored a victory over John Schimmel, also of Stroud.

For Brislin the election meant a political comeback after an absence from active participation in county politics the past two years. He had retired somewhat to the sidelines in major party issues since his unsuccessful bid for State Senate three years ago.

Snyder carried four out of five wards in Stroudsburg; he split East Stroudsburg's six wards 50-50 with Williams.

Last night, during a telephone conversation, Snyder made this statement:

"I'm so grateful for so many voters who have shown their faith in me and I'm humble that they have given their trust to my abilities to serve them. All I can say is that I'll do my utmost to merit their continued support."

Snyder was "sweating the election out" in a hotel room in the Continental Hotel in Washington, D. C. He was chairing the senior class members from the Belvidere, N. J. high school where he teaches.

The young political leader carried the vote in 21 out of Monroe County's 34 voting districts. He had winning votes in all three districts of Stroud, Jackson, Rose, Northern and Southern Hamilton, East Tobyhanna, Smithfield, Barrett, Polk, Price, Chestnut Hill and Tunkhannock in addition to the borough wards he won.

Brislin's political victory was equally emphatic. He carried 25 out of the 34 districts and piled up heavy majorities in mountain regions.

Schimmel carried all of Stroudsburg's wards except the first. Brislin scored a clean sweep of all six East Stroudsburg wards.

One district went entirely for Schimmel. This was Price Township where 31 votes were cast—all for the unsuccessful candidate.

The final tally showed the following:

Snyder—1,822 to Williams—1,411 or a 411-vote victory for Snyder.

Brislin—1,631 to Schimmel—1,186 or a 445-vote margin for Brislin.

McGonigle piled up 103 votes to 50 for Harold Stassen, five for William S. Livengood Jr.

Lawrence polled 15 votes for nine for Ray E. Furman and one for Edward Paul LaVelle.

In other Democratic contests, the results included:

U. S. Senator — George M. Leader 14; Clarence P. Bowers, 10; Lieutenant-governor — John Francis Davis, nine; William E. Culbertson, seven, and John Morgan Davis, six. Secretary of Internal Affairs — Genevieve Blatt, 14; Michael A. Cannavino, six, and Lucian J. Cletti, three.

Representative In Congress — Stanley Prokop, nine; Gene Basalyga, six; Walter Rakosky, four. State Senator — John Dobosh, 16. Representative in General Assembly — Albert Rutledge, 20. Member of state committee from the 14th District — Basil Jessup, 15. County committeewoman — Doris Bartleson, 22. County committeeman — Frank Ehrhardt, 23.

The Republican vote for other offices:

U. S. Senator — Hugh Scott, 133; Weldon B. Heyburn, 12; Harrison A. Moyer, seven. Lieutenant-governor — John M. Walker, 103; Frank C. Hilton, 37; Rowland B. Mahany, six. Secretary of Internal Affairs — Andrew J. Gleason, 112; Albert R. Pechan, 30. Representative in Congress — Joseph L. Carrick, 134; Herbert F. Jones, 23. State Senator — William V. Scott, 134. Representative to the General Assembly — Arthur J. Wall, 147.

Committee Voting On County Bases

BOTH PARTIES featured contests for committeemen and committeewomen in 11 voting districts yesterday.

The tallies include:

Middle Stroud
MIDDLE STROUD — Thirteen votes out of a total 189 cast in the Middle Stroud Democratic committeewoman race yesterday steered the victory to Carmen Archer, according to unofficial figures.

Breakdown of the figures: Willita M. Rogalski, 88; and Carmen Archer, 101.

Harry Armitage 159, was unopposed for committeeman and Edward A. Yost, 162, (R) and Helen Minnich, 173 (R), were also unopposed.

Chestnut Hill
BROOKHEADSVILLE — The Democratic committeemen race for Chestnut Hill Township yesterday resulted in victory for Leon F. Keller by a slim 12 vote margin, according to unofficial figures.

Breakdown of the unofficial tally: Leon F. Keller, 84; Arlington Mervine, 72. Unopposed Democratic committeewoman bidder Jean Mervine picked up an unofficial total of 135 votes.

In the Republican bids for the two posts, unopposed Oscar Everett collected 137 votes for committeeman, and Talitha Bush recorded 127 votes for committeewoman.

Polk Township
KRESGEVILLE — Clearcut margins in the Democratic contests for Polk Township committeeman and committeewoman yesterday resulted in victories for Robert C. Selpler and Margery Getz, according to unofficial totals.

Unofficial totals breakdown: Robert C. Selpler, 79; over Ralph S. Baumgartner, 34. Margery Getz, 82; over Adelaide Mae Burger, 44.

In the unopposed Republican slates for the committeeman and committeewoman posts, James Hook, 42; and Eva Kreimoyer, 47.

Western Coolbaugh
TOBYHANNA — Katherine M. Zorn, contestant in a Republican race for committeewoman of the Western District of Coolbaugh Township, yesterday defeated her opponent, Julia Beeher, by an unofficial count of 61 to 27.

Stanley W. Quick, unopposed in a bid for Republican committeeman, collected a tally of 81 votes.

There was no contest for Democratic committeewoman, and unopposed John T. Grady picked up an unofficial 86 votes for committeeman.

Stassen, Furman Fail To Register Political Upsets

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia's Democratic and Republican parties yesterday rolled up huge margins for organization-backed candidates for governor.

Both Arthur T. McGonigle, the Republican organization choice, and Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh had big leads over Harold E. Stassen and Lt. Gov. Roy Furman.

McGonigle, 51, pretzel manufacturer from Reading who was backed by the GOP state organization in his first try for political office, met with overwhelming success.

The count in 4,078 of Pennsylvania's 8,887 precincts showed McGonigle leading the former Minnesota governor and Eisenhower aide in the race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination by a vote of 284,070 to 125,396.

In Philadelphia, where the GOP organization flatly rejected Stassen's bid for support, the vote was 81,907 for McGonigle, 19,035 for Stassen, 4,762 for Livengood.

Stassen, who makes his home just outside the Philadelphia city limits in Valley Forge, predicted he would make deep inroads in Philadelphia where the organization was united 100 per cent for McGonigle.

The McGonigle plurality in Philadelphia was more than 13,000 but in some places elsewhere Stassen was running neck-and-neck with the organization choice.

With 3,671 of the state's 8,887 precincts in Lawrence had 275,312 votes for the gubernatorial nomination to only 50,861 for Furman.

Significantly only a minor fraction of Allegheny County had reported. It was here that Lawrence expected to add greatly to his lead. Lawrence's margin in 10 of the 1,208 precincts reporting in the county Pittsburgh was 1,353 to 301 for Furman.

The Philadelphia count in 1,340 of 1,566 precincts was Lawrence 114,436 to 11,131 for Furman.

Outside of Philadelphia, where Stassen in early returns had been running neck-and-neck with McGonigle, the Reading businessman started creeping ahead.

Only in a scattered handful of western counties was Stassen, three times unsuccessful in his quest for the Republican presidential nomination, ahead. And in those areas — Armstrong, Centre, Perry and Crawford — the margin was slim.

Francis E. Walter, Easton Democrat who is a candidate for reelection to the U. S. House of Representatives from the 15th District, collected 2,336 votes in the county.

Walter is seeking his 13th term.

John J. Dobosh, candidate for the State Senate from the 14th District, and Van D. Yetter, Jr., candidate for representative in the General Assembly on the Democratic ticket, polled 1,326 and 2,211 votes, respectively.

William Z. Scott, now representing the 14th District as Senator in Harrisburg, polled 2,364 votes on the Republican ticket.

Luther H. Ackerman, candidate for Congress, polled 1,845, while Hanford L. Cleveland, a candidate for reelection to the General Assembly, led the GOP candidates with 2,379 votes.

Bulletin
HARRISBURG (AP) — Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman to-day conceded his defeat for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Other returns came in quickly from outlying as well as borough districts.

By 10:50 all the district returns were in — except the First Ward of the East Borough. It came in at 11:22.

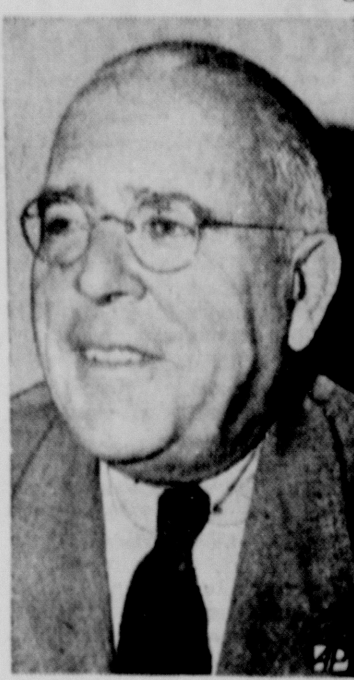

Two Cars In Accident
EAST STROUDSBURG Borough Police last night launched a continuing investigation of a two-car collision in Washington Street near an entrance to the Elks Club.

Investigating officers said the mishap occurred about 10:15 p.m., and involved cars driven by Kenneth Strunk, 41, of 607 Ann St., Stroudsburg, and Robert Sebring, 24, of 115 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg.

The vehicle driven by Strunk was negotiating a left hand turn into the Elks Club entrance, police said, when it was apparently struck during a passing operation by the other vehicle.

But Praetorius lost on the strength of heavy pro-Heller voting in the boroughs.

Heller, therefore, will replace Snyder as a member of the State Committee. Snyder gave up the right to campaign again for that office when he decided to run for the local chairmanship.

Unopposed Candidates Show Power

UNOPPOSED candidates for Congress and the General Assembly ran up hefty voting totals in yesterday's primary election.

Francis E. Walter, Easton Democrat who is a candidate for reelection to the U. S. House of Representatives from the 15th District, collected 2,336 votes in the county.

Walter is seeking his 13th term.

John J. Dobosh, candidate for the State Senate from the 14th District, and Van D. Yetter, Jr., candidate for representative in the General Assembly on the Democratic ticket, polled 1,326 and 2,211 votes, respectively.

William Z. Scott, now representing the 14th District as Senator in Harrisburg, polled 2,364 votes on the Republican ticket.

Luther H. Ackerman, candidate for Congress, polled 1,845, while Hanford L. Cleveland, a candidate for reelection to the General Assembly, led the GOP candidates with 2,379 votes.

Heller Captures State GOP Position From Praetorius
CLIFFORD HELLER, Stroudsburg industrial businessman, won the right to represent Republican voters on the State party committee yesterday.

Heller scored a 1709 to 1199 victory over Saylorburg hotel operator Graden Praetorius.

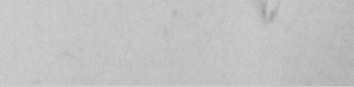

This was the minor highlight of a hot contest for party offices in the County.

Praetorius was a member of the group campaigning for the election of Gerald Snyder to be County Republican chairman.

Snyder won.

But Praetorius lost on the strength of heavy pro-Heller voting in the boroughs.

Heller, therefore, will replace Snyder as a member of the State Committee. Snyder gave up the right to campaign again for that office when he decided to run for the local chairmanship.

Randolph Speaks To Press Group

By Bobby Westbrook

NEWSPAPERS— which even more than the schools are a weapon for good public education—must face up to their responsibility in the current contempt and lack of respect for education, Leonard Randolph of the Daily Record editorial staff told the editors, publishers and reporters attending the Pennsylvania Press Conference in University Park last weekend.

Randolph's coverage of state education conferences and particularly his educational survey of local classroom teachers, administrators and Parent-Teachers Assn. presidents, won him wide recognition and a place on the panel attempting to answer "What's Wrong With Our Newspapers and What Can We Do About It?"

Education "coverage" in major newspapers is practically non-existent, he said, and small newspapers put the emphasis on minor matters.

Lack of Interest

"When Arthur Bestor of the University of Illinois told the American Society of Newspaper Editors that education news was being 'surpassed', he was right," Randolph said, "but he was wrong in attributing it to 'pressure groups', instead of to lack of interest."

"Newspapers are interested only when the news is sensational: isolated instances of violence in schools, or as a prime example, the fanatic interest aroused by the Soviet Union's Sputnik."

The newspapers, he charged, played a large part in making education the "fall guy" in the Soviet success instead of placing the blame on political maladministration and their own role in creating an atmosphere of anti-intellectualism.

"For many months, we were running headlines and stories which, in effect, impugned the patriotism, the intelligence, the sanity and the morality of intellectuals at large; now we can't understand why there is so much contempt and so little respect or love for learning," he said.

Randolph made 12 specific recommendations for better coverage of newspaper news:

1. Choose as a reporter a man with respect for education, and enough interest in education to have some definite ideas on the subject.
2. He should also be a man who loves his own profession and is devoted to the principles of a responsible free press.
3. Space to education news could be assured by an education page or column run on a regular basis.
4. Don't sensationalize. One comment, isolated out of context, can destroy a constructive appraisal of education news.
5. Pay attention to instruction matters in the schools which can be as exciting as the best human interest story.
6. Don't let administrators keep your man away from the teachers and the students where the real story lies.

7. Draw up a firm plan for education coverage in the area with perhaps a press conference with administrators.

8. Educate the educators to the difference between "publicity" and genuine public relations. Newspapers themselves have emphasized the "frills" in education and ignored the real news.

Attention

9. Try to give as much attention and space to academic matters as you do to sports.

PTA are potentially more powerful than alumni athletic associations.

10. Don't be afraid to "write up" to your audience. You run chess news for chess clubs, and can have some minority news for educators and parents who are interested in honest education information.

11. Cover the school boards.

12. Take a long look at your own attitudes toward education.

"Remember that the news-school—is a weapon for good

Lutherans Reelect Rev. Shick

BUCK HILL FALLS — Rev. Claude S. Shick, of Philadelphia, formerly of East Stroudsburg, was reelected secretary of the Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania at its convention here yesterday.

Two newly-formed congregations, both in Wilmington, Del., were admitted to the synod.

An agreement was reached by which the stewardship chairman and a synod official will meet to determine what each of the recently-formed districts shall contribute in the way of stewardship.

Also approved was a provision for increasing dormitory space for women at Muhlenberg College and exploration of joining the Philadelphia Lutheran Seminary with that at Gettysburg.

The 65-voice choir from Northampton Lutheran Church presented a program of sacred music at last night's laymen's meeting.

Today, the convention will hear a report of yesterday's closed ministerial session.

Firemen Answer 'Smoke' Alarm

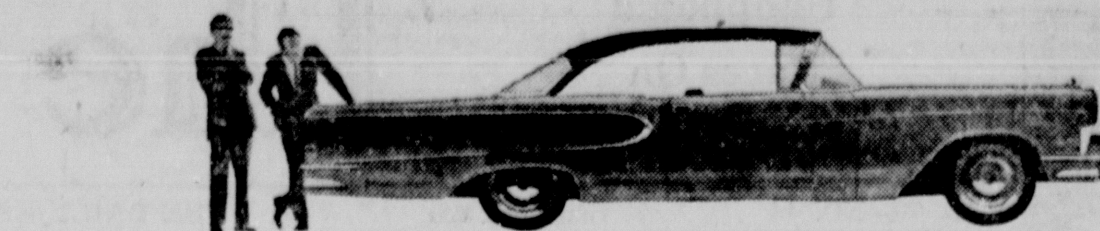

SHAWNEE fire fighters yesterday responded to an apartment in the center of the community to combat "a great deal of smoke" resulting from a back draft on a fireplace burning out of operation.

According to firemen, the apartment is occupied by Tommy Cullen. The smoke was quickly ventilated from the structure and firemen returned to their station.

public education. If we do our job better we will have better understanding and mutual trust," he concluded. "From these will come infinitely better schools."

Detour To Be Closed At Bridge

BEGINNING at 7 a. m. today the Ann St.-W. Main St. detour will be closed until further notice. A contractor's spokesman said an effort is being made to have the bridge open for traffic by May 30.

Motorists are warned not to proceed beyond Koehler's Diner-Armistage Bar intersection if they wish to come into Stroudsburg.

All traffic into, out of and through the borough will be routed on Route 611 and Bridge St.

John Harrington, of Guy Trimpey Inc., the company constructing the new Pocono Creek-W. Main bridge, said yesterday that closing of the detour is "the only way" to get approaches to the bridge completed.

Approaches

The actual bridge is now finished. Still to be done are the approaches on either end of the bridge.

To warn approaching motorists on Route 209 from the West that the detour is closed, Harrington said the firm will erect an eight-by-eight foot sign at the junction of Bridge St. and Route 209 in front of Koehler's and Armistage's.

A second sign will also be put up at the left turn on Bridge St. where some motorists occasionally enter W. Main to come to Stroudsburg.

FOUR MEN—AND A FREEDOM—In the early morning hours the voters were few and far between. People just didn't seem to be taking the primary election seriously. But at Polk Township election house these four men symbolized all those who did believe in the primary—when they had a chance to select candidates for their party. Talking it over on the porch here are William Keller, Robert Seidler, Lawrence Getz and Russell Keller. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

War Against Crime

Each minute throughout 1957 nearly five major crimes were committed—and a homicide, rape or attempt to kill occurred about every four minutes.

These sorry facts were revealed in the latest annual report of J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

"The 1957 fiscal year," he observed grimly, "witnessed a continuation of the record wave of lawlessness which has swept across the nation in the post-war period."

There is, however, a brighter side to the ledger. In the 12-month period, 96.7 percent of persons tried in federal court as a result of FBI investigations entered guilty pleas or were found guilty, and the number of such convictions reached a 10-year high of 11,218.

The federal agency plays an important role in tracking down federal criminals and in protecting the civil rights of U. S. citizens.

An increasingly vital area of its responsibility is in the field of domestic intelligence. The purpose is to protect the internal security of the United States.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Unlearned Lesson

And apparently we never learn. It would not be accurate to blame all of America's troubles solely on just the foreign aid aspect of our policy of involvement. But it would be inaccurate to say it has not had great effects.

And the effects we had hoped for—and have been promised year after year—are not the ones that have resulted. Since 1945 the round sum of $60 billion has been sent overseas to make us friends and if we have any more now than then it isn't exactly apparent.

Indeed, foreign aid involves us in the internal affairs of countries perhaps more than we either believe or intend. When aid has formed a pattern, governments come to count on it as their "rights." It is not necessary to reduce this year what foreigners had from the U.S. taxpayers' pockets last

States and to combat espionage, sabotage, subversive activities and related threats.

And here Mr. Hoover's report has some significant things to say about the Communist Party in America. Despite certain setbacks, he says that a "hard core consisting of thousands of dedicated Marxists in this country has clung to its un-American ideals and emerged into what it interprets as an atmosphere conducive to regrowth and attainment of its goals."

The FBI has kept a close check on the Communist traitors and even tapped their wires to obtain evidence against them. It knows, perhaps as well as any body outside the Kremlin, that a strong and alert America is the greatest deterrent to Soviet domination of the world.

Mr. Hoover's report is brief, but well documented and comprehensive. It shows that the war against crime, in all its manifold ramifications, must be waged more intensely with each passing year.

Weakening Sales Resistance

Good Evening Ladies!

Death Before Dishonor?

By Ken Duvall
The scented mail has brought me a yellowed clipping from an old magazine, sent to me by a lady from Chicago, and which she believes must be the work of the very first born columnist in history. To show you how old it is, the piece counsels young ladies to choose death before dishonor.

My correspondent has some snide and cynical things to say about this theory and I gather she's glad times have changed, as she contends, and that it no longer is considered proper for a maiden betrayed in love to leap off a cliff. She also doubts that any ever did, except in novels written by women authors.

It is far better, she says, for such a maiden to simply write off her betrayer as a cad and a heel, and chalk the whole thing up to experience, resolving to watch her step much more carefully in the future. This has always been her method.

This subject came up once before when the Yale debating team, taking the negative side, won over Princeton, whose team defended the proposition, "Resolved, a woman should choose death before dishonor." Obviously, the Yale boys were fired by the thought that no woman should prefer death before dishonor at the hands of a Yale man, and that research showed plainly none ever did. This seems a silly subject for men to be debating, inasmuch as the choice lies entirely with the women. Anyway, every man is imbued with the idea that women should defend themselves against all men except himself. A victory in this field is considered by him to be tantamount to being elected vice president of his firm and a member of the board, while it is a distasteful thing if any other man does it. Confinement in the Iron Maiden until bled white is the punishment he recommends for other guys for this crime.

Vassar Versus Smith

At the time of this Yale-Princeton debate, I made an effort to work up some enthusiasm at Vassar and Smith for a similar debate, offering to travel any number of miles to hear it and to act as monitor. If invited, I thought at the time, and still do, that the arguments pro and con would be well worth hearing. However, the best I could get in the way of a reply was a polite note from a lady at Vassar who told me that the question had been moot among ladies for centuries and she doubted that it could be resolved by debate. Also, I should be able to find something more important to do than trying to stir up debates between girls' schools.

However, I still think it's a good idea and there must be some defenders of the proposition at Smith and I'm sure Vassar could rustle up a team to take the "con" side and declare openly that the whole thing wouldn't be worth musing up a coiffure for.

Personally, I have no opinion on the matter, believing it to be strictly a feminine subject. I strongly suspect that nothing but frustration lay behind Princeton's spirited defense of the resolution—that, and an apocryphal report that some Yale men were week-ending in Princeton.

Red Carpet Treatment

Saylorsburg, Pa.
Dear Mr. Editor:

Our highway department is to be congratulated on the speed with which they resurfaced those few miles between Ross Common Manor and the Lake House, an excellent job, a cheap job, and badly needed one.

You indeed rolled out the red carpet for us who have frontage on this highway, when you put dirt shoulders, according to orders from Harrisburg, ranging in depth from six to 12 inches, in some instances six feet wide and consisting merely of a mixture of red shale and dirt.

We understand this was to have been a 22 foot road (the engineer made a mistake and only figured on 18 feet). So we have an 18 foot road. And as for the red carpet material, why didn't the highway department have given them all they wanted, for nothing.

For the past 10 or 12 years there has been a two foot hard surfaced shoulder along this highway. Why then now must we settle for mud, slime and washing over our property during heavy rains and continuous dust in a dry season?

Our herd of cows must drink this muddy water, a pond which is maintained for fire protection for the village will become filled with dirt if these shoulders remain. Of course we are told it won't wash, but we'll wait and see.

We are constantly being reminded this highway, Routes 115-12, and 90 is merely a detour. Pray tell me then, where is the main road, where has it been for the past 33 years?

This resurfacing is to be only temporary—until the new 611 is completed. A survey for that highway has been worked on for some 12 or 15 years, and unlike the shepherd boy who cried wolf, wolf, we don't believe there ever will be a new 611, certainly not since every effort seems to be directed on the shortcut.

The big wheels of our highway need to be reminded they are merely public servants whose salaries are made up by the taxes we all pay, either direct or indirect. They therefore, should not be so indignant to us who are only asking to keep what we always have had.

In his letter to your paper, Mr. Troegner stated something was rotten with the shortcutway setup. May I add that something seems to be rotten in the highway department.

NELLIE KOSTENBADER.

Try and Stop Me

—by Bennet Corf

Despite the fact that men's heads come in all sizes, their hats, for many years at least, did not. One ingenious hatter finally came up with an idea that soon became the accepted practice: he put a drawing inside the hat that enabled the wearer to adjust it to the precise circumference of his cranium. Then the string was tied into a bow-knot.

Although hats have been coming now in assorted sizes for fifty years and more, and the drawing inside has long since been abandoned, hatmakers have clung for some unknown reason to the bow-knot. You'll still find one, utterly useless, inside every man's hat.

Robert S. Allen Reports...

Rockefeller's Ambition

Washington—Nelson Rockefeller is the White House's choice for senator from New York.

The Republican ticket is strongly preferred by the inner House group for this year's crucial election in the Empire State is — former National Chairman Leonard Hall for governor, and Rockefeller for the seat being voluntarily relinquished by Senator Irving Ives.

But while heartily favoring such a slate, the President's close assistants are keeping hands off this prickly political situation. Privately they are making no secret of their views. But that's as far as they are going—for the present!

One important reason is Rockefeller's pronounced reluctance to run for senator. That is due to a very simple factor: The 50-year-old New Yorker has no desire to be a member of Congress.

Since 1940, he has had extensive experience with the legislative branch of the government, as an official in the regimes of Presidents Franklin Roosevelt, Harry Truman and Dwight Eisenhower. This experience has not whetted Rockefeller's interest in being a lawmaker.

It is his feeling that if he is to enter the lists as a candidate for elective office, then it should be for governor rather than for senator.

This attitude has been made frankly clear to the White House.

That's why the inner group there is being so careful regarding this thorny situation. Because not only does Rockefeller's stand run directly counter to White House strategy, but also to the personal ambitions of Leonard Hall.

The former GOP Chairman is as emphatically insistent as Rockefeller on seeking the governorship. He, too, is not interested in the Senate.

How this tough dilemma will be worked out is one of the most intriguing political puzzles in the country. One suggestion being weighed is that President Eisenhower personally endeavor to persuade Hall and Rockefeller to come to an agreement on who runs for what.

Note—Thomas Finletter has been told by former President Truman that he's eager to come out publicly for him for the Democratic senatorial nomination. "If you want me to," the former Air Secretary has been endorsed by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, former Senator Herbert Lehman and Adlai Stevenson.

Under Fire—The powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee is going to make an on-the-spot investigation of the U. S. exhibit at the Brussels World Fair.

Reason for this inquiry is a barrage of complaints about the exhibition.

For weeks, Senator Theodore Green (D., R. I.), and other committee members have been getting letters and other critical reports regarding this country's $13,100,000 display at the Brussels Fair.

There are no protests about the U. S. Pavilion. But there is a mounting stream of them concerning what's in it.

As a result, the committee has decided to look into the matter with a first-hand inquiry. Senator Green proposed this an unannounced meeting, following a particularly caustic report by several Paul businessmen.

They submitted this detailed evaluation at the request of Senator Hubert Hurns (D., Minn.), head of the Foreign Relations Subcommittee on Disarmament.

Walter Butler and Martin Haley, engineers and construction managers, characterized the U. S. exhibit as "unpardonably and unbelievably bad; made up of obscure impressionistic meanings, the obtuse surrealism of extremism in industrial design, and a nightmare of odds and ends which do not show our nation as we know it."

The two Minnesotans commend the U. S. Pavilion designed by noted architect Edward Stone. The structure has been widely acclaimed as among the most outstanding of the fair.

But the exhibits inside the pavilion are scathingly denounced. Following are highlights of this blistering report, which led the Senate Committee to decide to probe the matter:

"There is no explanation of our form of government. There are no traditional American paintings. We did not see one single reference to religion in the U. S.; nor did we see any exhibit on education in the U. S. We did not see a single likeness, statue, picture or reference to George Washington.

"Instead, there is here an exhibition of what seem to be a decadent nation. . . . We were told that 'industry is being played down in this exhibit.' With a large part of our industry in difficulty, that doesn't make sense. We thought fairs are for selling. If not products, at least democracy and ideas about it.

"By contrast, the Soviet pavilion across the street has 'hard sell' packed into every square foot; an excellent, although unimaginative job has been done here. Heavy industry, science, education and culture are well displayed, but in clear and understandable terms."

Service and it would be worth noting what the courts do about it. Thus far, the power companies, which I asked, have received no official notice of this action, although they do have copies of Kefauver's circular.

On the other hand, TVA which celebrates its 25th anniversary this year has prepared a kit containing thousands of words of mimeographed material which it is issuing, and I have a copy, telling the world how superior TVA is to private power. This, of course, is not "lobbying." What then is it?

The TVA material contains no reference, although it is issued currently, to the Davis Bill (H.R. 4266) which is one of the most amazing propositions before Congress because it, in effect, eliminates the Government of the United States from a public power, tax free business, which is owned by the government and has been financed out of the taxpayers' money.

The purpose of the Davis Bill is to authorize TVA to sell revenue bonds to the public independently of the government. The House Bill permits unlimited expansion of TVA, without regard to geographic limitations.

The law establishing the TVA requires it to repay in 40 years, all appropriated money in power facilities, amounting to more than $1,000,000,000 of which TVA has already repaid more than $200,000,000. Under the Davis Bill it would not be required to make such payments, but would substitute a semi-annual payment on appropriation investments, which could be postponed for two years. The Davis Bill makes no provisions for taxation.

It is interesting that whereas TVA may send its kit of releases, amounting, I should guess, to 25,000 or 30,000 words, without Senator Kefauver demanding censorship of any kind, private power companies are being subjected to censorship in the vicious form of an Internal Revenue Service order, never authorized by Congress, and certainly class legislation because it applies to no other group in the United States.

According to Senator Kefauver's circular, "millions of dollars" are involved in this kind of advertising, which then will be lost to newspapers and magazines. It would be interesting to know what other forms of censorship the Internal Revenue Service undertakes masquerading as income tax directives.

Whereupon Commissioner Harrington advised Senator Kefauver that he, Harrington, was ordering the field forces of the Internal Revenue Service to investigate power company advertising. In December 1957, Senator Kefauver was further advised, according to the Kefauver release, that the Internal Revenue Service was going over the 1956 returns of power companies to see whether they used their own money as a business expense to defend themselves.

This might interest other industries because it is tantamount to censorship of advertising by the Internal Revenue Service.

The Pennsylvania Story

Will Factions Unite?

By Mason Donlon
Harrisburg—With Pennsylvania's somewhat hectic and well-timed campaign now well under way, an item of the past—the big question around Capitol Hill at this point centers around whether opposing forces in each party actually will knit together sufficiently and in time for the heavy November general election campaign ahead.

Both Democrats and Republicans blew through the primary campaign with heavy factional splits dogging their ranks.

Today there are sulking and mutterings on both sides of the fence notwithstanding some notable public "harmony" utterances on the part of those who wound up on the scalping end.

On the Democratic side for example, the break between what might be termed the Furman faction and the Leader faction undoubtedly will be most painful to the Democratic case should it continue.

Democrats, still a registration underdog, need every ounce of support they can muster within their own party ranks—plus obvious Republican or "independent" support on the outside if they hope to win this fall.

Not Popular
The Democratic Leader Administration has not been popular with many of the rank and file and lower echelon Democratic leaders throughout the state.

This has stemmed largely from the fact that the current administration has simply not produced the "open door" policy on patronage matters in particular, as had been expected in the early success-flushed years of the administration.

Organizational, Democrats have yet to produce a well-disciplined organization after nearly four years in the saddle.

There are of course those who speak in injured tones of the need for any such discipline within the Democratic Party if it is to remain what they like to refer to as the "free party"—yet these are the very same ones who within the privacy of party councils are demanding greater party discipline.

Old pals of the party know this is a critical point and reluctantly concede that it can send them down to defeat just as it did in the campaign following the last Democratic administration of George H. Earle back in the late 1930's.

Thus the question of just how well the dissident and wide-ranging factions of the Democratic Party can be knitted together is one of the prime points plaguing party kings in this post-primary period.

Republicans are in little better condition—with perhaps the major difference lying in the fact that they are not faced with the prospect, as are Democrats, of losing the status of continuing as the administration in power.

Nevertheless for GOPsters, hopeful of returning to the gubernatorial suite after a four-year lapse, they too concede a dire need to rebuild their once-vanquished organizational discipline.

Dear Abby: I am in love with a married man with four children. The oldest is 15. We have been seeing each other on the q. t. for a year. His wife doesn't know it because he doesn't tell her the correct amount of his wages, so when he spends money on me she doesn't miss it. He says he loves me. Should I ask him to get a divorce or keep my own freedom in case I get tired of him?

Dear Abby: How do you keep your sister-in-law from going into your kitchen and doing your dishes? She thinks she is being a big help, but actually, when she leaves, I have to do them all over and wash them properly. She says I am poky, and her idea of doing dishes is rinsing them under the hot water faucet, so she gets done in ten minutes. I don't like to hurt her feelings, but I sure wish she would let me do things my way. How can I tell her? She is very touchy.

Dear Abby: If you are "this girl," you should be able to suggest tactfully that he change barbers and give up the scarf.

Dear Abby: I am going steady with a very nice boy. But there are a few things I wish he would do. First of all he wears a silk scarf around his neck that went out with high button shoes. His hair cut looks like his mother put the bowl on his head and cut around it. How can I tell him these things without hurting his feeling?

Dear Abby: Don't be in such a hurry to catch this foul ball on the second bounce. He may get tired of YOU before you get tired of HIM.

Adventists To Feature May Meeting

THE MAY meeting of the Seventh-day Adventist Home and School Assn. will be held tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium on Route 209.

Mrs. L. D. Warren, association leader, said that tonight's program entitled "Wild Animals and Their Homes" will open with prayer, flag salute and a devotional message by Elder William R. Bornstein.

The leader stated that during the program three talks will be given by Mary Lou Freeman, Lorraine Banks, and Clifford Okuno and that repitations by school children will be given, namely "Little Things Count" by Carole Banks and "True Wisdom" by Judy Foukes.

Slides have been obtained from the Department of Education at Harrisburg which will help fasten lessons in our minds.

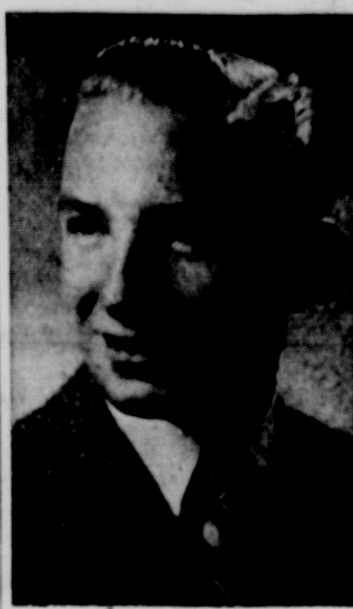

An instrumental trio combining the melodious tones of a trombone, flute, and clarinet will be the special music for the program given by Thomas Foukes, and sons Thomas Jr. and Frank.

Mrs. Warren announcing the meeting said, "We should approach the study of nature in a reverent manner. Nature still speaks of God and upon every leaf and flower and tree is written the message of His love."

Health
"Each month for the year a portion of the time is given to personal and public health," the leader said and tonight Thomas Miller of the General Hospital laboratory department will speak on "Immunization."

Miller's remarks will be confined to the most common diseases found among school-age children and how by cooperation with school nurses, doctors and public health authorities we can obtain immunization and enjoy a greater degree of happiness through healthful living.

Bruce Noyes To Attend Lafayette

ANNOUNCEMENT was received this week that Bruce Noyes had been awarded a scholarship by Lafayette College, where he has enrolled for study.

Bruce is the older boy of Mr. and Mrs. Perry W. Bean. Mr. Bean is an associate professor on the faculty of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. Bruce plans to study in the field of metallurgy, under the direction of Dr. Leon McGeady, head of the metallurgy department at Lafayette.

Head Of Class
Bruce stood at the head of the class of 1958 in chemistry at East Stroudsburg Senior High School, and placed on the high school honor roll three times during his senior year. He has been active in extracurricular activities as well. He played prominent roles in dramas for several years, was assistant football manager, represented his room on the student council, was a member of the Junior Historians and played in intramural sports.

Track Demons To Perform

NEWFOUNDLAND — Track demons in the four to 15-year age group will race "jellybeans" as a featured part of the entertainment at the Greene-Dreher-Sterling Community Fair scheduled for August at the fairgrounds here.

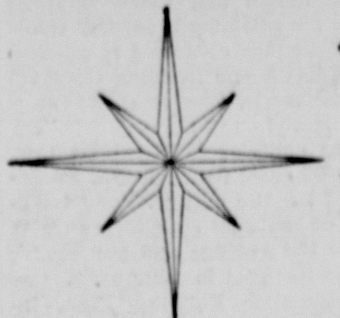

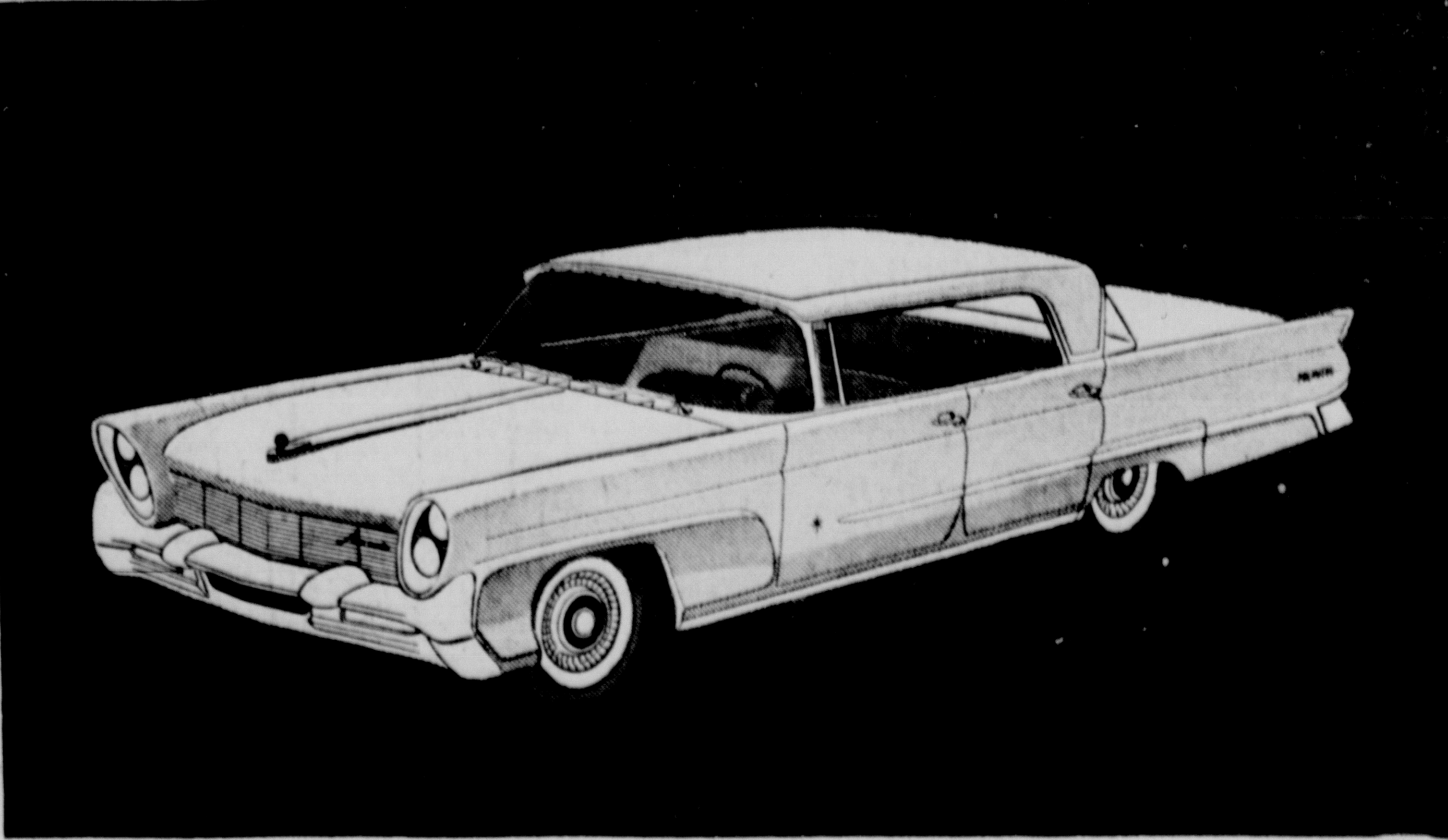

The youngsters from the Lehigh Valley Quarter Midget Racing Club, many of tri-cyclers, will pilot the little cars which are less than six feet long and only 28 inches high.

The two-horsepower motors have a maximum speed of 50 mph on a straightaway, but are held down to 28 mph maximum on the raceway. Both boys and girls participate in this new kind of auto racing, and their fathers come along as mechanics.

Another new feature of the Community Fair, one of the last of the old-time country fairs, will be a great pig contest. The slippery animals will be tamed, loose every day for a new contest.

Baby Parade
Similar features, such as the baby parade, inaugurated last year, with great success, and the tractor-driving contest, always a favorite, will be a part of the three-day and four-night stand.

Plans for the fair were discussed this week at a meeting held at Greene-Dreher-Sterling Joint School with George Schmalz presiding in the absence of President Carroll Fetherman, who is in Florida. (Please turn to page ten)

Shrubs Aid To Driveways

MANY driveways could be made much more delightful by the simple expedient of a few perennials or shrubs as a border. Visitors get their first impression of a home as they come up the driveway, whether a long drive or a short one, and as for the home owner himself, it puts him in a good humor after a day's work to see the borders of his drive in full bloom.

There are two solutions in achieving the effect desired. The first is to make two long narrow beds and plant permanent shrubs, both evergreen and flowering. Roses make a splendid border for a drive as do numerous other flowering shrubs, such as azaleas, spirea, forsythia, or anyone of probably a hundred or more shrubs that do well in your neighborhood climate. Consult with your nurseryman and try to obtain a succession of bloom so that one plant or another will be in bloom at practically all times from spring through summer. By using low-growing coniferous evergreens intermingled with flowering shrubs, the borders will be attractive in winter as well.

Insulation Important In All Seasons

INSULATION does an important two-way job for the homeowner. During the Summer months, it helps keep the sun's heat outside the house, and hence reduces room temperatures considerably. In the winter, it keeps furnace heat inside the house and thus reduces heating costs by as much as one-third.

Actually, insulation usually pays for itself within a relatively short time, through the savings effected in fuel bills.

Insulating materials are made of mineral wool, rock, glass or slag, paper pulp, gypsum, asbestos, cork, aluminum foils, vermiculite, cotton and other vegetable and mineral matter.

Many types of insulation can be installed by the home-owner himself. However, the techniques which utilize air pressure to literally blow mineral wool into walls, ceilings and floors over unheated areas call for the specialized know-how and equipment of a professional mineral wool contractor.

Wall Insulation

To insulate a wall, the contractor's skilled workmen remove small pieces of siding on the outside of the house and drill small holes in the sheathing to get at the hollow spaces in the wall.

The nozzle of a long, flexible rubber hose is inserted in the opening, and the mineral wool is pumped through the tube from a truck parked at the curb. The insulation passes into the wall under pressure, which packs the mineral wool into cracks and crevices, and around braces, wires and other obstructions, insuring a thick, efficient seal.

When the job is complete, pieces of siding are skillfully replaced so that the house looks the same as it did before.

Similar methods are employed to blow mineral wool into ceilings and floors which need insulation. In most cases, workmen need never enter a house, since the methods employed are designed to do the job as quickly as possible without disturbing the household.

Mineral wool contractors usually recommend that walls be filled with insulation, and that a thickness of at least four inches be installed in ceilings. A two-inch thickness is recommended for floors over unheated crawl spaces, garages and porches.

When it comes to attic insulation, this is something that the average home-owner can do himself. The two principal methods of installation are (1) stapling blanket insulation between roof rafters and (2) spreading "fill type" insulating material between attic floor joists.

Where insulation can be applied on an open surface, the so-called blanket type is often indicated. This comes in long rolls as well as in "batts" or pre-cut sections.

The "batts" or pre-cut sections are simply placed in the hollow spaces between studs, rafters and joists in walls or ceilings or under the roof, or between the joists of unfloored attics. Long rolls can be cut to the desired dimensions, as installed. A simple stapling gun can be used to tack each roll.

To install "batts" or pre-cut sections in floored attics, it will be necessary to remove the floorboards. In such situations, "fill type" insulation (which comes in bales or bags) is favored. Only one or two floorboards need be removed, and the material poured under the floored portion.

Key to the home's flexibility is the manner in which it avoids restricting the natural patterns of day-to-day living. The two terraces, zoned living and sleeping quarters and distinct room identification contribute to this pattern.

Wood Paneling Converts Waste To Useful Space

PANELING a room in wood can convert a dormant, dusty attic or basement into bright, cheerful space for living.

An important reason for the popularity of paneling is its easy installation which helps keep down labor costs if a professional does the work and at the same time makes paneling projects possible for the "do-it-yourself" amateur. For the guidance of the amateur, here are some tips from the Western Pine Association on how to panel:

Store the lumber for about 10 days in the room where it is to be used. Put sticks between each piece to allow the air to circulate.

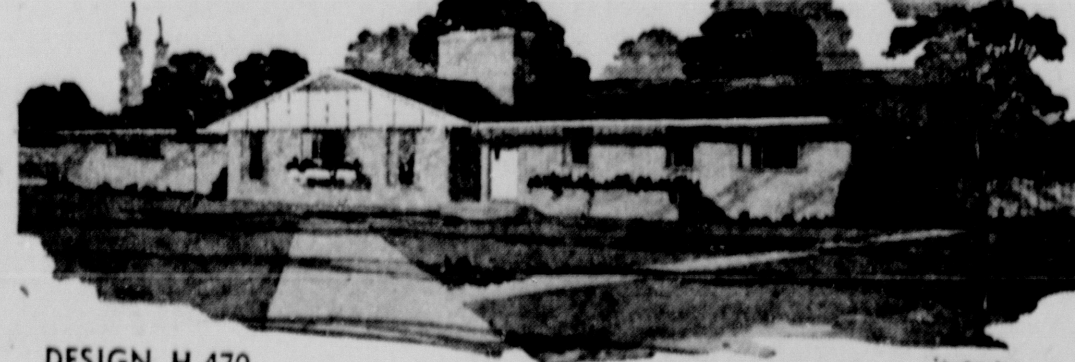

First step in construction is to provide a nailing surface to which the paneling is to be attached. For applying horizontal paneling to an ordinary unfinished wall, such as is usually found in an unfinished attic, it may be possible to nail the boards directly onto the studs. However, most other jobs require that furring strips be provided.

Basement Installations

In a basement or for any concrete or masonry walls, furring can be installed by use of various kinds of special screw plugs or steel cut nails. It can be nailed directly to old plaster walls.

Furring strips should be horizontal in applying vertical paneling. Strips should be at least 1 x 2 inches and placed at least every four feet beginning with the top. At the bottom there

Plan In Future For New Home

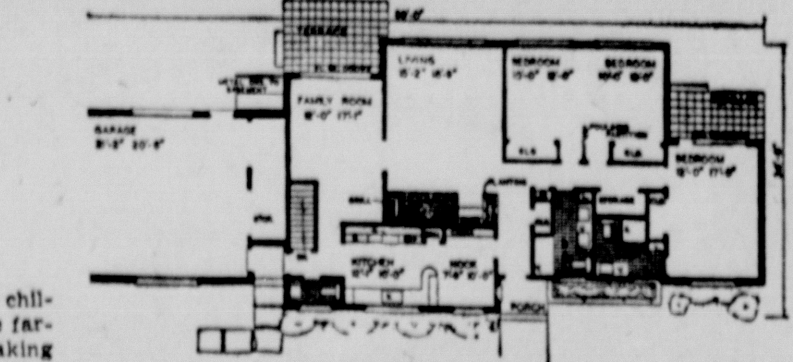

IF YOU have growing children, it will pay to do some far-sighted planning when making your new home selection. You have to consider not only present needs but also those five or 10 years from now.

In this particular design, the architect has done your planning for you. It works well with small youngsters and it can really pay off in convenience as they grow into adulthood.

Key to the home's flexibility is the manner in which it avoids restricting the natural patterns of day-to-day living. The two terraces, zoned living and sleeping quarters and distinct room identification contribute to this pattern.

box and enclosed bookshelf.

Adjacent to the living room is the home's family or more descriptive "fun" room. With its private terrace and proximity to the kitchen, one does not have to be an architect to see how this room will fit into the scheme of many activities.

Note also, how these two rooms seem to turn their backs on the remainder of the interior—one to obtain an atmosphere of formality and dignity and the other for entertaining and fun.

The sleeping consists of one master-size bedroom richly endowed with its own terrace and a private bath and one or two additional bedrooms depending on the needs and wishes of the family.

The two bedrooms have a folding door between them. When closed, two bedrooms of liberal dimensions are created. Opened, the spaciousness suggests a number of intriguing arrangements.

'Climate' To Be Steady In Future

AMERICANS will be so used to a custom-made climate in another five years that they will have little interest in weather reports, if we may judge by the rate at which air-conditioning systems of various types are being installed in both new and existing homes.

Basically there are four different ways in which air conditioning can be installed in older homes:

- (1) Central air-conditioning;
- (2) Units that become parts of existing warm-air heating systems;
- (3) Units that become parts of hot water heating systems;
- (4) Individual room air conditioners.

A central air-conditioning system consists of a basic unit, containing a compressor, condenser, cooling oil, air filter and blower along with a duct system to rooms and room registers.

Dual Purpose System

In homes where forced warm air heating systems already exist, air-conditioning can be added at relatively low cost, since the same furnace, blowers, duct work and registers are used for both heating and cooling.

A year-round air-conditioning system takes over the job of indoor climate control, for both summer and winter. In the summer the system conditions and cools the air and in winter keeps the house warm.

Pine Serves Double Duty

LOUVER shutters of ponderosa pine installed on the inside of windows serve double duty both as a decorating material and functioning blinds.

The louvers block out light and give complete privacy to a room, yet permit air to enter.

The rich texture of the louvers adds charm to practically any decorating scheme.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

For a while last night it seemed as if more people were interested in the results of the election than they were in voting in it.

Which is a common human failing, I suppose, but none the more endearing for that. Members of organizations steadfastly refuse to take any office but are often critical of those women who do. Board members who modestly keep their mouth closed at meetings open them wide and often when a decision doesn't fit their ideas.

But the trouble is it might make a difference in the outcome if you were all in there pulling from the first. If all the people who call up to find out the score of the game had been out cheering on the home team, and finding out the score for themselves, we might have a lot more winning scores to report.

However, let's be charitable and assume that all the people who called up last night or came to watch the election scorecard had also been interested enough to go vote, but what then, happened to the rest of you?

The weather was fine, the voting places accessible, the hours long, and you knew personally almost half the candidates you were voting for, so why didn't you? Certainly nothing you had to do yesterday was more important.

Well, all this is like a cracked record that plays the same thing over after almost every primary election, but it's something I feel very strongly about.

Poppy Sales, Holiday Dinner For Legion Aux.

Dingmans Ferry—Miss Mabel Bensley inaugurated the 1958 Memorial Poppy sales campaign at the May meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of Tilghman-Angle-Smith Unit No. 831 held at the American Legion Home. She distributed the 50 poppy corsages which had been made by Mrs. Virs Bryan.

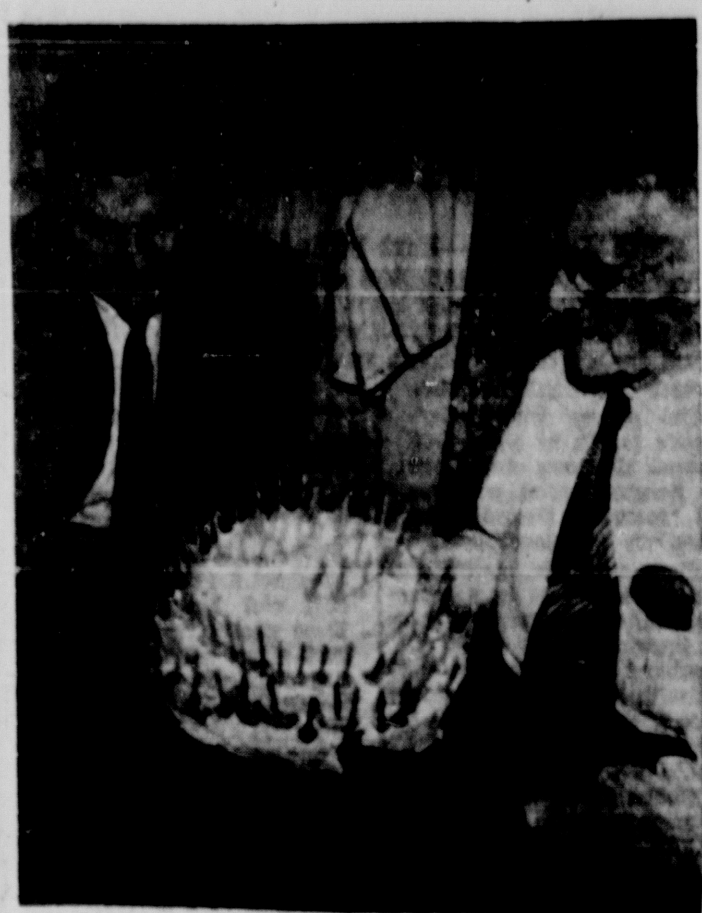

The Poppy program will include a window display in the Dingmans Ferry Post Office and the Auxiliary Juniors will sell on Sunday, May 25.

The Memorial Day week-end will mark first of this year's Chicken Bar-B-Que dinners, at which the members of the Auxiliary will assist the men of this Legion Post. Dinner will be served under the maples at the Post Home on Route 209 on Sunday, June 1, and will include one-half chicken, escaloped potatoes, home-made baked beans, cole slaw, rolls and butter, cake and coffee. Members serving as waitresses will be wearing their new patriotic design aprons made by Mrs. James Albright and Mrs. Caleb Lentz.

The following were reelected to serve as officers for next year: President, Mrs. Elsie Bensley; first vice president, Miss Mabel Bensley; secretary, Mrs. Marie Hoffman; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Henrietta Jagger; treasurer, Mrs. Harriet Jagger; chaplain, Mrs. Virs Bryan; Sgt.-at-arms, Mrs. Mary Albright.

Newly elected were Mrs. Vera Powers who will serve as second vice president, and Mrs. Marguerite Gardiner who will fill the vacant office of historian. There will be no June meeting of the Auxiliary. The next meeting will be at the Legion Home the first Monday in July, when the members will plan for the July 27 barbecue.

Charles Gildner Enjoys 99th Birthday Activities

Kresgeville—Charles Gildner of Middle Creek celebrated his 99th birthday on Friday and attended both Sunday School and church services in the Middle Creek EUB Church on Sunday.

Mr. Gildner is still able to get around without assistance although his sight is failing. He is still a regular attendant at the Middle Creek Church and delights to talk with friends and neighbors when they call.

He is the son of the late John and Pauline Daubenspeck Gildner of West Penn Twp., Schuylkill County, and came to Middle Creek 80 years ago. One of his sons, Harry is secretary and caretaker of the Bowmanstown EUB Camp Meeting Grounds where Mr. Gildner attended services when they were first held there more than 60 years ago.

Another son, Allen, lives in Aquashicola, and a third son, Thomas, resides with him in the homestead at Middle Creek.

He recently recovered from an illness, but was in good condition for his birthday.

Calling to extend greetings were Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gildner, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Teeter, Dr. Thomas Williams, Mrs. Earl Murphy, Mrs. Ross Welliver, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bollinger, Edwin Bond, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith, William High, Mrs. Warren Lenhart, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Romasavage, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Andrew, and Mrs. Russell Keller.

Also a birthday caller was octogenarian Osborne Davidson. Mrs. Sabilla Schaffer, who will be 99 this coming November, is now confined to her room at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lizzie Christman.

MRS. GEORGE LEVIN, right, president of the local Provisional League of Women Voters, and Mrs. Vance Britton, Bushkill, delegate, are shown at the biennial meeting of the state league held at State College, Pa.

League To Mark First Anniversary

At the Biennial Council meeting of the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters, Mrs. George Levin of Shawnee, president of the Provisional League of Women Voters of East Stroudsburg, presented her report on the completion of the local league's first year program and requested recognition of the league. The recommendation was forwarded to the National League for confirmation.

Also representing the local league were Mrs. Vance Britton, Bushkill, and Mrs. John Stanford, Stroudsburg.

A dinner of celebration of the first year of the local League is scheduled for Tuesday, May 27, at 6:30 at the Penn-Stroud Hotel. Mrs. Norman F. Patten, Wilkes-Barre, president of the Pennsylvania League, will be the principal speaker.

Year Book Places First In State

The Woman's Club of the Stroudsburgs will receive first award in the senior division of the printed year books for the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs at the convention June 11-13 in Harrisburg. Announcement of the award, the first in that category ever won by the senior club, was received by Mrs. Samuel O. Wells, III, club president.

Mrs. Walter N. Klindworth, junior chairman of program for the state federation, in making the award said:

"Our sincere congratulations to your club upon winning this award and upon the style and completeness of your book as well as its unique cover."

Mrs. Elwood Hintze is year-book chairman, and the cover is an etching of the Stroud Community House done by Mrs. Eugene H. Martin, a past president of the local club.

The year book will be displayed among the winners at the convention and will be presented to Mrs. Wells at the Friday morning session.

Students To Model Own Garments

The home economics classes of the Stroud Union High School invite mothers and friends to attend the fashion show and tea to be held in the school auditorium on Thursday, May 22, at 2 p. m.

Soroptimists Hear Talk On Forest Use

Eugene McNamara, district forester, was the speaker at the dinner meeting of Soroptimists Inc. held Monday night at Humble Rest with 36 members and guests present. He showed slides illustrating the importance of the forests of Pennsylvania, which cover 53 per cent of the area and on which 75,000 employees depend.

He cited the importance of forests in providing lumber, recreation, wild life and clean water. McNamara was introduced by Marjorie Hamblin.

The business meeting of the club will be held June 12 at the home of Ethel Johnston.

The Wyckoff Shopper

Never have I seen the lads and lasses of WVPO so shined up and dressed to the teeth as on Monday morning when I arrived about ten minutes before air time, to find everyone ready for a studio photograph. Every one, did I say? Well . . . not exactly.

Usually I go direct to the studio from home—but Monday was different. I had come down earlier than usual and stopped at the store.

"WVPO called," Mable Anderson said, "and if you came here before the broadcast we were to tell you to come to the studio immediately."

"Did they say why?" I inquired.

"No . . . and I'm not sure who called," she replied. "I didn't recognize the voice."

A few minutes later I found a handsome fleet of my radio friends assembled in Studio A. Les Carlton, the Daily Record's veteran photographer, lounged amiably near the door, camera at hand. Lydia Getz and Helen Marshall of the WVPO office, and Elsie Logan of "Here Comes the Bride," sat primly in a row, like "Three Little Girls from School." Roaming around in various stages of unrest were Bryden Taylor, whose droll humor delights early morning listeners . . . Ernie Transue, whose Country Show is a sideline of his other duties as studio engineer; Joe Whalen, the station's program director, and Chester Miller, station manager. Conversing by themselves were Ed Sommers, sales director; Bill Lee and Al Newton of his staff; Bill Price, of the announcing staff, and—at the last moment—Al Stiehler, formerly a part-time employee of our Men's Shop, who now is part-time announcer, while continuing to be a full time college student. Al arrived breathless and brainwashed from a history examination.

Still we waited. At first it had been hoped the picture could be shot before the Wyckoff Shopper broadcast . . . but, as the minutes passed, it was apparent that this couldn't be. "I'll tell you, Madalyn," Chet decided, "You begin the broadcast and watch for a sign from John. When we're all ready, he'll signal you to call for music, and you rush over and take your place—then go back and finish."

Fifteen minutes later my program was ended and we were still waiting. Sally Ferree was missing . . . and calls all over town had produced nothing but the information "she was here, but she left a few minutes ago."

"Well," someone sighed resignedly, "we might just as well wait. She has to come before 10:30—she has a program then." The men continued to pace. The women proceeded to talk about the weather . . . housecleaning and food. I secretly mourned a fate that always thrusts me in front of a camera when I am neither prepared nor dressed for such an event. Suddenly Sally arrived in a whirl of excitement and apology. John Meunier spun a long playing record on the turntable, and rushed into the studio, taking his position at the end of the row. Quite naturally, he was clowning. "Are my spit curls all in place, folks?" he demanded, running his palm over his short, crisp crew cut. "Be sure to get my best angle, Les."

In a moment it was over. In the aftermath of the flashbulb, I was trying to decide whether my eyes had flown open, or closed. I was just about to reflect upon this aloud when another flash came, and Les's job was done.

All of this is a part of WVPO's observance of National Radio Month. I will not attempt to say what radio should mean to the public. It serves, or all that WVPO does in the way of public service. I think you know. But I should like to salute the staff of WVPO. I am not exactly one of them—but my contacts with them are sufficient for me to know what obliging, helpful, sincere folk they are. Why not meet them, if you are not already doing so, by staying tuned to 840? I think you'll enjoy it.

FLOYD BACHMAN has been knocking around streams and brooks and woods longer, it seems, than the animals and fish he watches over.

The Stroudsburg resident who helps the state stock, feed and "baby" fish the year around runs into all kinds of problems. But the one that hits the bespectacled "mother" of the aqua is gripes that there is no fish in a certain area.

Here's a true story that points to Bachman's troubles daily.

The other day he came upon an angler who was working Pocono Creek. The fisherman, from the coal fields, informed Warden Bachman that there wasn't any trout to be had.

"Why I've been fishing all day and haven't had one bite," the Angler said.

Floyd countered, "Didn't I see you fish this same spot the other day with another man?"

"Yes," said the angler, "and we both caught our limit, too."

"In fact," continued the line thrower, "we fished here yesterday and got our legal catch again."

The not-now puzzled Bachman snapped back.

"Well how in the world do you expect to get anything out of this spot right now. There isn't any fish left. You know I stocked this particular area four days ago and you and your friend have cleaned it dry."

"It's beyond me when people fish for two days and get the limit both days that they feel there is more trout there."

Moral of Story—Don't depend on one area to give you a limit daily. Like a well it will eventually go dry.

New Stroudsburg High football coach Walter Bjorn will probably use the Split-T offense when he takes over as grid boss of the Mountaineers in August.

Bjorn, a stellar lineman at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College in his undergraduate days, worked under the Short Pump attack of then Warrior Coach Eugene Martin.

The Split-T is similar to the offense used by John Whitehead. However, the Mountaineers under Whitehead were adapted mainly to the Belly Series with the quarterback riding along with his backs and keeping or handing off on option maneuvers.

If past indoctrination is any evidence then the Mountaineer basketball club will be a running five. New coach Bob Wert, a graduate of Bob Mushrush's teaching at Catawauqua came through the go-go-go state at Caty.

At Elizabethtown where he was a member of the varsity and coached the junior varsity, Wert leaned toward the fast break and other speed-up maneuvers that tended to run the opposition into the floor.

Tom Hennessey, the St. Louis, Mo., kiegler, is still leading the scratch division in the Pocono Mountain $20,000 Bowling Tournament. Hennessey, a member of the Budweiser Beer team, owns an actual 861 for four games to pace the pack.

In the handicap side of the Pocono Mountain classic, Donald Casey and Joe Chanko, both of Moosic, Pa., are one-two with 704 and 697 respectively.

Joe Burnett, of Houston, Tex., held on to his lead in the Slate Belt $10,000 Tournament with 1221 actual for six games. In the handicap phase of the Slate Belt, Bill Miller, of Pottsville, is first with 1215.

In the women's division (scratch) Sylvia Wene of Philadelphia is first in the Pocono Mountain with 704, while Iona Eby of Allentown, is first in the Slate Belt Ladies with 1007.

Durrelle Is 2-1 Favorite To Beat Frenchman On TV

MONTREAL (AP)—Yvon Durrelle, Canadian and British Empire light heavyweight champion, Tuesday was a 2-1 favorite to beat France's Germain Ballarin in a 10-round bout at the Montreal Forum Wednesday night.

The fight will be telecast (ABC, 9 p.m., EST) coast to coast in the United States over the regular Wednesday night network.

It will be the second "live" boxing show to be beamed into the United States from another country. The first was lightweight champion Joe Brown's one-round conquest of Cuba's Orlando Echevarria in Havana, Feb. 26.

This is a comeback effort for the husky, 28-year old Durrelle. The fighting fisherman from Baie Ste. Ann., N. B., was stopped in the seventh round by Tony Anthony in New York last March 14.

Sports Mustache

Ballarin, who sports a flourishing mustache, is making his second campaign in North America. He came to the United States a year ago and split in two bouts. He defeated Bob Provi and lost to middleweight contender Rory Culhoun.

Bangor No-Hits S-Burg

3 Pitchers Hurl Slaters To 4-3 Win

THREE Bangor High hurlers combined to no-hit Stroudsburg High last night and pitch the Slaters to a 4-3 victory over the Mountaineers under the lights at Gordon Giffels Field.

Two home runs by Bobby Butz accounted for three of the four runs picked up by the Slaters off Tom Gross and his losing reliever Byron Weaver.

Hurling Corps

Bob Ferris started for the Slaters and proved to be fourth inning. Dick LaBar followed and Barry Reimer pitched the seventh in blanking the Mountaineers in the hit column. Reimer got the win.

Only misuses and walks enabled the Mountaineers to cross the plate in the fifth and sixth frames.

Butz homered in the first frame with a mate aboard and got what proved to be the winning marker in the last inning with a solo wallop.

Polk Notches 5th Straight

CANADENSIS—Polk Township continued along the unbeaten trail in the Pocono Monroe Scholastic Baseball League yesterday, blanking Barrett Township High, 18-0, for its fifth straight triumph.

Del Kresge hurled the triumph for Polk, limting Barrett to six hits.

Polk pounded out 15 hits in running up its biggest margin of the season.

Gray took the mound loss for Barrett.

"KEY" MEMBERS OF ATHLETIC SCHOLARSHIP SOCIETY—Four East Stroudsburg High athletes were named to the National Athletic Scholarship Society and will receive keys symbolic of the honor. They are left to right Gene Martin (basketball), Doug Smith (football), Dale Metzgar (basketball) and Phil Simon (football). These quartet's work in the classroom (80 per cent or better) coincided with their exploits on the athletic field and court and brought about the laurels.

Cardinals Trade Al Dark For Cubs Pitcher Brosnan

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The sixth-place but rising St. Louis Cardinals reinforced their pitching staff Tuesday by acquiring right-handed hurler Jim Brosnan from the Chicago Cubs in return for veteran shortstop Al Dark.

No money changed hands, the Cards front office reported.

The Red Birds said they intend to insert the 28-year-old Brosnan, 34, into their pitching rotation immediately. Lindy McDaniel and Vinegar Bend Mizell, two other starters, have had their troubles lately.

The trade was the first major deal engineered by freshman General Manager Bing Devine of the Cardinals. Devine took over the reins from Frank Lane, now G.M. Cleveland.

The deal had been a conversation piece between Cub and Cards officials for six weeks.

The 35-year-old Dark, in his 13th season as a big leaguer, has been in and out of the Cardinals lineup this season. Just before the trade Manager Fred Hutchinson had him on the bench in favor of bonus baby Dick Schofield, who covers more ground and has a stronger throwing arm.

Dark's last four times at bat were in pinch-hitting roles and he delivered base hits each time to raise his average to .297 for the young season.

Experience at 3rd

In Pittsburgh where the Cubs opened a two-game series with the Pirates, Chicago Vice President John Holland said Dark will play at third base. He added:

"We felt that Alvin could give us the experience on the infield that we need."

Dark, one of the best hit-and-run men in the game, came to the Cards from the former New York Giants in 1956 in a multiple-player trade in which he and Red Schoendienst of the Cards were the key men. Schoendienst is now with Milwaukee.

Dark, a former halfback at Louisiana State University, batted .285 in his first season with the Cardinals and was instrumental in lifting them into the first division from their seventh-place finish in 1955. He takes a National League lifetime average of .292 to the Cubs.

Brosnan started in the Cubs minor league organization in 1947. His big league career mark is 11-14 and includes a 4-1 edge over the Cardinals.

In eight starts this year his 3-4 record showed 51 2-3 innings pitched, 18 earned runs, 29 walks and 24 strikeouts for a 3.18 ERA.

Capture Wins In Industrial

LEHIGH VALLEY Dairy and Patterson-Kelley won Industrial Softball games last night. LVD outlasted Local 1724, 11-8, while P-K stopped Line Material, 7-2.

A four-hit batting spree by Cram led Lehigh Valley to victory. B. Freeman also garnered four safeties for the losers, including a double and a triple.

Don Albert hurled a 3-hitter at Line Material for P-K as Harold Strunk collected hits for the victors.

Wiffi Smith Wins

SPARTANBURG, S. C. (AP)—Wiffi Smith, a freckled youngster from St. Clair, Mich., holed pressure putts for birds on two closing holes Sunday and won the sixth annual Betsy Rawls-Peach Blossom Women's Open Golf Tournament by two strokes. Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., finished second with a 54-hole total of 218. Mickey Wright of Chula Vista, Calif., and Marlene Bauer Hage of Delray Beach, Fla., tied for third at 219.

Hellertown's 4-Run Rally Clips Eastburg High, 5-2

HELLERTOWN—East Stroudsburg High finished out its Lehigh-Northampton League season here yesterday bowing to Hellertown, 5-2, as the Panthers came up with four runs in the fifth inning to break up a duel between the Cavaliers' Foster Ladyee and the winners' Bill Hunsberger.

The victory was Hellertown's fourth in eight L-N games. Eastburg closed out its League season with an 0-8 record. Overall the Cavaliers are down 0-11.

Ladyee, a rightie, and Hunsberger were locked in a scoreless mound duel before the Panther uprising in the fifth.

Eastburg countered in the sixth with two runs on a single by Joe Steele and a sacrifice fly by Viechnicki.

Steele got two of the four hits picked up by the Cavaliers who meet archrival Stroudsburg High at Gordon Giffels Field Friday night, starting at 8 p.m.

1,000 Trout For Saylors

THE Saylors Lake Fishing Association's first committee set the date for a new stocking of the lake at a recent meeting of the group at the home of Charles Szilagyi, Bethlehem.

The second stocking of 1,000 trout ranging from 9 to 21 inches is scheduled for Friday at 12:00 noon. The lake will be closed to all fishing from the time of stocking until Saturday at 9:00 a. m. From 9:00 a. m. on the lake will be open for all fishing.

All members and their friends are invited to participate in the stocking.

Listed are a few of the outstanding catches taken from Saylors Lake this year:

Charles K. Geeringer, Bethlehem, 21 in. Rainbow; Henry Atherton, Nazareth, 20 in. Brown; Wilson Wolfinger, Quakertown, 20 in. Brown; Evan Jones, Palmerton, 20 in. Brown; Anto Geopfert, Quakertown, 19 in. Brown; Sam Sheels, Northampton, 18 in. Brook; Nagy Alexander, Bethlehem, 18 in. Brook.

Beginning Sunday and continuing through Sept. 28, the Saylors Lake Fishing Association will meet the last Sunday of every month at 2 p. m. on the second floor of the pavilion.

Basketball Ace Wins April Title

NEW YORK — Bob Pettit, high-scoring ace of the St. Louis Hawks, pro basketball champions, yesterday was named the April winner in the S. Rae Hickok "pro athlete of the year" competition.

Pettit was 28 points ahead of Arnold Palmer, winner of the Masters Golf Tournament at Augusta, Ga. Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals was third and Maurice Richard of the champion Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League was fourth.

Maxwell Cops Memphis Golf

MEMPHIS — Money player Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., buckled down to a pressurized under-par final round Sunday to win the $20,000 Memphis Invitational.

The Texans pro fired a 65 over the Sunday 2,700-yard, 34-hole Colonial Country Club course. His final card: 69-65-68-63-267. That's 5 under par for 72 holes.

Stan-The-Man's Slugging Still Retains .400 Pace

NEW YORK — When a ball-player hits at a .400 pace and loses ground that's news. When that player is Stan Musial it does not come under the heading of the unusual.

For Musial, who now has lifted his lifetime total of base hits to 3,006, has been hovering around the .500 mark for most of the young campaign.

A week ago, the brilliant star of the St. Louis Cardinals was batting .494. In his last seven games, Musial has collected eight hits in 20 times at bat—even a .400 clip.

Hold .476 Pace
Stan showed a still awesome percentage of .476 through Sunday's games. However, the continued productive slugging of San Francisco's Willie Mays could mean for an intriguing season-long duel between these two excellent competitors.

In last week's action, Mays garnered 16 hits in 35 tries and boosted his average 19 points to .406. Seven of Willie's blows were home nine hits in 22 at bats.

Gil McDougald of the New York Yankees, the pace-setter a week ago, dropped into a third place tie at .373 with teammate Bill Skowron, who has been out with a back injury. McDougald lost 30 points with a .6 - for .21 performance.

Cerv Leads
Bob Cerv of Kansas City, who suffered a fractured jaw in Saturday's game against Detroit, continues to lead the junior circuit in homers with 11 and runs batted in with 30.

However, Cerv's once-commanding lead in these departments is being challenged by Jackie Jensen of Boston. Jensen slammed eight home runs and collected 10 RBIs last week. This gave the Red Sox' outfielder eight homers and 23 runs batted in for the year.

Mickey Vernon, Cleveland's veteran first baseman, climbed one notch into the runner-up position. He gained 11 points to .384 with

Track Stars To Appear

It was announced that the music will be provided by the Greene-Dreher-Sterling Se-lor and Junior Bands, as well as the school's seven-piece Dixieland Band and the 16-piece dance band. The Back Mountain Boys, a hill-billy group, will provide "toe-tap-pin" music.

Several minor changes in the farm crops division were discussed and approved during the meeting. It was announced that the drainage problem at the back of the field had been cleared up, and that the additional new land has been graded at the site of the proposed Rotary Band Shell.

A report from the building committee noted that the new structure which will house exhibits and farm animals has not yet been started, but will be completed by July 1.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Wednesday, May 21, 1958
March 21 to April 20 (Aries)
If your aggressiveness is turned to constructive channels, this day can produce some unusually good results, not only in the present but for the future.
April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)
Generally encouraging for you, this day in fine aspect on the other hand, is careful not to overtax yourself or go to extremes. Maintain a steady pace.
May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)
A very favorable aspect of "your" planet Mercury boosts keenness, perception, enlightenment generally. Agreements can be profitably made, carried out. Maintain harmony.
June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)
Achievement, fresh advantages, new clients, customers, friends, come your way. Look ahead cheerfully and don't fail.
July 24 to August 23 (Leo)
Fresh opportunities for gain and new friendships likely, through which happiness and joy may come. Be your rightly ambitious, happy self.
August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)
Work, business and wholesome pleasure all encouraged, give you good day! Make it better by enjoying the good in life.
September 24 to October 23 (Libra)
Your Venus well aspected. However, you will have competition for that is half the success story. Intuition, imagination should be at the peak.
October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)
Even if you have a great many things to do, do NOT take on too many tasks at once. Overexerting yourself now could prove detrimental to health.
November 24 to December 21 (Sagittarius)
Don't be confused by conflicting reports, but do seek out the truth, and do not get upon hearing influences prevail.
December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)
Your Saturn well aspected. January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)
Uranus' excellent position suggests that you get on the job early and press toward all major objectives vigorously. Do not permit interference and do not make foolish delays.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)
A fine Neptune position encourages progress in most activities. You should have renewed confidence. Don't be influenced by dissenters or doubters. KEEP TRYING!
MARCH 21 TO APRIL 20 (Aries)
YOU HOPE TODAY are endowed with ambition, versatility, general deservity, love of but not always outward show of affection for home and dear ones. You can be successful if you apply yourself daily and not in "spurts" when you tend to work too hard and endanger health. You have a remarkable capacity for gathering knowledge, a fine understanding of human nature. Control emotions; be inwardly content. Birthdate of: Alexander Pope, Eng. poet.

It was announced that the music will be provided by the Greene-Dreher-Sterling Se-lor and Junior Bands, as well as the school's seven-piece Dixieland Band and the 16-piece dance band. The Back Mountain Boys, a hill-billy group, will provide "toe-tap-pin" music.

Several minor changes in the farm crops division were discussed and approved during the meeting. It was announced that the drainage problem at the back of the field had been cleared up, and that the additional new land has been graded at the site of the proposed Rotary Band Shell.

A report from the building committee noted that the new structure which will house exhibits and farm animals has not yet been started, but will be completed by July 1.

A BOY LEARNS TO VOTE—In Monroe County election districts dozens of mothers and fathers took their children with them to the polling place. While mom and dad were voting, the kids got acquainted with the Democratic process of government on the model machine. Here, at Chestnut Hill voting place, Donald Gower 2½ years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gower, picks a winner as L. L. Everett and Gladys Serfass, election officials, look on.
